Dear Fr. Bellamah,

I just emailed and faxed a new version of "Why People Believe God Caused the Big Bang." I am 73 and am not interested in getting articles published in my name. I don't think the prolific author Fr. Robert Spitzer S.J. understands the arguments for God's existence and I want to explain what his errors are. What I want to do is give a seminar to Catholic theologians about science and religion. I'd appreciate your telling me if you got the article, what you have done with the article, and when you will be deciding what you will do about my request.

I've started a website titled "Rational Arguments for God's Existence: Evangelizing is Good and Proselytizing Is Bad" at <http://www.newevangelist.me>. You might also want to check out my website titled "Pseudoscience in the American Journal of Physics" at <http://www.pseudoscience123.com>.

Very truly yours, David Roemer

I just got proof of delivery of my letter to Fr. Bruno Cadore, so I published it at <http://www.newevangelist.me>. If you let me give a talk at the Dominican House of Studies, I will remove it from my website.

I also have pending a request to give a lesson at St. Joseph's Seminary in New York. This request came about because the Chaplain of Columbia U. threatened me with legal action for contacting undergraduates at Columbia.
Very truly yours, David Roemer

Dear Greg ,

I would have assumed that your readership understood the rational metaphysical arguments for God's existence until I found out that Robert J. Spitzer, S.J., and the Magis Center promote irrational scientific arguments for God's existence. Fr. Spitzer's secretary indicated to me that Fr. Spitzer was too busy to discuss matters of opinion.

I asked the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith to correct Fr. Spitzer (see: www.newevangelist.me), the Shroud of Turin (see: www.dkroemer.com), and evolutionary biology (see: www.pseudoscienc123.com). I don't know what Cardinal Mueller is doing, but I feel an obligation to enlighten Catholic theologians about the relationship between science and religion.

After sending the letter to the Congregation of the Doctrine of the Faith, I got an insight into what is motivating Fr. Spitzer, et. al., to think the Big Bang is evidence of God's existence. I contacted the theology departments of Fordham, St. John's, Seton Hall, and Georgetown asking to give a seminar on science and religion to explain my insight and get feedback. None of the theologians at these universities was interested, so I wrote the essay you claim to have read and understand.

I want to come to Washington, DC, and explain to theologians at Georgetown and the Pontifical Faculty of the Immaculate Conception why the Magis Center should be corrected about these three issues. I suppose the one I should ask is Fr. Langlois. But, I think you will be doing him and your colleagues a service if you give them a heads-up about my request.

Very truly yours,
David Roemer
