Msgr. Vaccari is ignoring your request, there is little that I can do. Sorry.
Dear Fr. Guglielmi,
Fr. Vaccari is ignoring my request. This is why I am writing directly to the faculty. What you should do is tell Fr. Vaccari you want to hear what I have to say.
Dear Dr. Roemer,
I have forwarded your email to the rector of St. Joseph's Seminary, Msgr. Peter Vaccari, as my role at the seminary is spiritual director. I am sure you will hear from Monsignor at his earliest convenience.
Sincerely yours in Christ

4/14/16: emailed after leaving message on machine:
Dear Fr. O'Reilly,
Msgr. Vaccari said he would forward my email of 4/7/16 to you for a determination of how to handle my request. I sent the same email to the Msgr. Reilly of the Immaculate Conception Seminary at Seton Hall, but have not yet gotten a response.

Mr. Vincent DaSilva, Director of the University Apostolate of the Archdiocese of New York, suggested that I contact St. Joseph's Seminary for support. I am assuming Cardinal Dolan wants me and Mr. DaSilva to work together in this matter. I've attached the letter I sent to Cardinal Dolan.

mailed Seminary on 4/7/16. Left message with Mary, Rector's secretary on 4/12/16 mailed 3/18/16: Dear Fr. Vaccari,

Upon information and belief, the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith wants me to instruct the American Catholic Church about the arguments for God's existence. My correspondence with Gerhard Cardinal Müller is here:
<http://www.newevangelist.me>.

I'm a retired high school science teacher and have experience giving developmental lessons, rather than lectures. I've attached the handout I would use in such a lesson. What follows is a link to an article I submitted to The Review of Metaphysics, which is sponsored by the Catholic University of America, in October 2015. So far as I know, the article is still being considered for publication. This is a link to the article:

Very truly yours, David Roemer
